

Brian Dye
Wal-Mart Teacher of the Year for Pulaski County

We are pleased to recognize Mr. Brian Dye, Fifth Grade Teacher, Northwood Elementary School, who has been named Wal-Mart Teacher of the Year in Pulaski County. Brian was nominated by his colleagues at Northwood and several students sent letters explaining why they felt he should be Teacher of the Year. The supervisory staff at Wal-Mart read all nominations, then sent their top choices to the entire staff. The associates voted Brian to be their choice for this prestigious award. At a recent school assembly, the entire student body surprised Brian with a “Mr. Dye Cheer” and refreshments. Representatives from Pulaski Wal-Mart presented a certificate and a “Teacher of the Year” vest. Wal-Mart also awarded the school $1000 in his honor. Pulaski County Public Schools is fortunate to have Brian Dye as an employee. His contributions to Northwood Elementary’s students, staff, and parents reflect great credit on him and Pulaski County Public Schools.
